AMERICAN AIRLINES ANNOUNCES RECORD-BREAKING NUMBERS AT MIAMI HUB
American Boards More Than 39,000 Passengers in a Single Day

MIAMI – American Airlines today announced it has hit a record-breaking milestone for its operations at Miami International Airport (MIA). On Saturday, March 12, the airline boarded 39,283 passengers at MIA, a record day for the hub. Sunday, March 13, marked the second-highest figures for boarded passengers, with 38,914 customers traveling on American.

“This is a tremendous accomplishment,” said Marilyn DeVoe, Vice President of American’s Miami hub. “Our flight schedule has been steadily increasing over the past years, and we know that these numbers will only continue to grow as MIA strengthens its reputation as a world-class travel center, thanks in part to the North Terminal.”

American’s Miami hub now operates from the nearly completed North Terminal – a state-of-the-art facility with 48 international and domestic jet gates, a new people-mover system and expanded check-in and baggage facilities.

Each year, American and American Eagle carry more than 21 million people through Miami. Together, they operate more than 290 flights a day to more than 110 destinations in the United States, Mexico, the Caribbean, Latin America and Europe. Miami is now the largest international gateway and the largest cargo operation in the American system.
